Dear Mr. Jackson,

Re : Application for the position of Software Developer

After learning about your company's unique approach to IT Strategy and performance from your daily innovation conference, I became very interested in the Software Developer position with your company that I saw on LinkedIn.

One of the aspects that stood out was your company's values, client confidentiality and promotion of a collaborative work environment. Working in your company would allow me to develop my skills in development and management. Indeed, it is important that a software developer knows how to work in a team and has a collaborative spirit.

With two years' experience as a front end developer and one year as a back end developer in my apprenticeship in an IT company, I learned several IT languages. I'm proficient SQL, Objective C and Java languages. Moreover, I'm a good communicator and I always give the best of myself to succeed in the responsabilities that are given to me.
For example, during my previous position/role I had to develop, along with my team, a software to secure payments on e-commerce sites. I honed my soft and hard skills in this project and I developed an analytical mind and problem solving skills.

I would really like to join your company and I thank you for the time given to my application. If you have any question, please contact me by phone at +33 6 12 34 56 78, or by email at edenthiais@yahoo.fr.

Kind Regards,

Eden Thiais
